The Fantasy Sports Writers Association's Hall of Fame committee has selected three individuals for induction in 2018. We are pleased to welcome this year's Hall of Fame class:

John Benson - A pioneer in baseball analysis and forecasting, John published his first Rotisserie Baseball Annual in 1989. He was also an early developer of draft software. John's work has appeared in The Sporting News, Baseball America, USA Today and various other sites and publications. He has authored over 50 books.

Brendan Roberts - Brendan has achieved success as both a fantasy analyst and editor, first at The Sporting News and later with ESPN. He started at SN in 1996, editing publications that covered all major sports. His "Hit Parade" column debuted in 2001 and has been recognized with multiple FSWA awards. Brendan has also served as an important editorial voice at ESPN, working with many FSWA and FSTA Hall of Famers. He is currently a managing editor with The Athletic.

Paul Charchian - Paul is an essential figure in the growth and success of the fantasy industry, a pioneer as an analyst, publisher, radio personality and executive. He was the publisher and lead author of Fantasy Football Weekly and the founder of Fanball.com and LeagueSafe.com. Additionally, he has served as the president of the FSTA since 2009, during a period of extraordinary industry challenges and expansion.

Sincere congratulations to the FSWA Hall of Fame class of 2018. To learn more about our eligibility requirements and selection process, please visit our Hall of Fame page.
